Job Information Pack

Your Bright Future Starts Here

At Bright Futures, we're a leading provider of high-quality, community-based care, support and education for children and adults with a diagnosis of autism, learning disabilities and associated complex needs.

We are outcomes-focused in everything we do. Facilitating meaningful outcomes is central to our approach, ensuring that our support and education are genuinely person-centred, purposeful and shaped around what matters most to each individual.

Here you'll join a career with purpose, one where you will be making a difference to the lives of people with autism and learning disabilities.

This pack aims to support you in your application to join our team and share what to expect from a career with us.

Key Role Information

Role: Senior Support Worker

Salary: £28,448 - £32,163

Hours: Our full-time hours are based on 37.5 hours per week completed in shift patterns. This includes some additional sleep shifts.

Experience: NVO Level 3 in Health and Social Care alongside at least 1 years experience as a Support Worker.

Support and Training: We offer a comprehensive training and development offer aimed at supporting you in your role right from day one. You'll have access to a range of face-to-face training and e-learning to give you the tools and resources to thrive.

Your Career as a Senior Support Worker

As a Senior Support Worker, you'll deliver and role model the highest standards of teamwork and maintain strong reporting and recording of outcomes and activities. You'll play a vital role in helping the people we support to live happy, meaningful, and fulfilling lives.

Each day will be completely different, striving for continuous improvement and taking responsibility for the shift, demonstrating effective organisation and decision making. Your role is to be there to guide the people we support through all of life's milestones, celebrations and challenges.

You will be a key part of their day-to-day support team, actively valuing and amplifying what matters to them, empowering their communication and independence, planning fulfilling activities. You will also keep records of their needs, support provided, and progress - working alongside external agencies and teams across the organisation.

You'll do more than provide care - you'll be a mentor, advocate, and source of encouragement, helping the people you support to achieve the best outcomes.

Support Worker Responsibilities

What you'll be doing:

- Provide high-quality, person-centred support, always putting the needs, wishes, and feelings of the individuals we support first.
- Acting as a role model for the highest standards - maintaining strong reporting and record keeping.
- Help individuals develop their communication skills, aligning with external therapy teams.
- Support sensory and wellbeing needs in line with personalised care plans.
- Work closely with colleagues, families, and professionals to ensure the best possible outcomes.
- Be a positive role model within the team, sharing your knowledge and supporting others to grow.
- Contribute to a warm, safe, and stimulating environment that supports emotional, social, and physical wellbeing.
- Take an active role in planning, recording, and reviewing support, ensuring accurate and high-quality documentation.
- Taking responsibility as the Senior Support Worker on shift, taking the lead and making appropriate decisions.
- Work collaboratively to deliver the best support.

Why your role matters:

This isn't just a job. As a Senior Support Worker you'll join a career with purpose, an opportunity to be part of someone's journey, to celebrate progress (big and small), and to help people feel valued, heard, and supported every day.

Benefits and Rewards

Supporting Your Interview Journey

At Bright Futures, we don't just recruit for skills – we recruit for shared values. Everything we do is guided by our values, they are what put the 'Bright' in Bright Futures.

We're not looking for "perfect" answers. We're looking for real experiences, honest reflections and a genuine commitment to our purpose.

What is a competency-based interview?

It's a conversation about your experiences. We'll ask you to share examples of times when you've demonstrated skills or behaviours that matter in the role you're applying for.

This approach helps us understand:

- How you work with others
- How you respond to challenges
- How you make decisions
- How you support and influence those around you

Most importantly, it helps us see how you bring our values to life in everyday situations.

How to prepare

A little preparation can help you feel confident and ready to share your experiences.

Before your interview:

- Review the job description and advert carefully
- Think about examples from your recent experience (ideally within the last 12-18 months)
- Reflect on how your examples demonstrate our values and behaviours

What competencies we focus on

Depending on the role, we may explore areas such as:

- Teamwork
- Decision making
- Communication
- Leadership
- Resilience and tenacity
- Problem solving
- Planning and organisation
- Influencing and negotiating
- Quality focus

These aren't just "skills" – they're the behaviours that help us provide safe, high-quality support and specialist education.

What kind of questions will I be asked?

You may be asked something like:

"Can you tell us about a time you worked as part of a team to achieve a positive outcome?"

When answering, take us through:

- What the situation was
- The part you played
- What actions you took
- What the outcome was
- What you learned

We're especially interested in your contribution and your reflection – what it meant, what impact it had, and how it connects to the role you're applying for.

Structuring your answers: The STAR method

A helpful way to structure your responses is the STAR approach:

S

Situation

Set the scene.
What was happening

T

Task

What were you responsible for?

A

Action

What did you do? How did you approach it?

R

Result

What was the outcome? What did you achieve or learn?
