Supporting Your Interview Journey

At Bright Futures, we don't just recruit for skills – we recruit for shared values. Everything we do is guided by our values, they are what put the 'Bright' in Bright Futures.

We're not looking for "perfect" answers. We're looking for real experiences, honest reflections and a genuine commitment to our purpose.

What is a competency-based interview?

It's a conversation about your experiences. We'll ask you to share examples of times when you've demonstrated skills or behaviours that matter in the role you're applying for.

This approach helps us understand:

- How you work with others
- How you respond to challenges
- How you make decisions
- How you support and influence those around you

Most importantly, it helps us see how you bring our values to life in everyday situations.

How to prepare

A little preparation can help you feel confident and ready to share your experiences.

Before your interview:

- Review the job description and advert carefully
- Think about examples from your recent experience (ideally within the last 12-18 months)
- Reflect on how your examples demonstrate our values and behaviours

What competencies we focus on

Depending on the role, we may explore areas such as:

- Teamwork
- Decision making
- Communication
- Leadership
- Resilience and tenacity
- Problem solving
- Planning and organisation
- Influencing and negotiating
- Quality focus

These aren't just "skills" – they're the behaviours that help us provide safe, high-quality support and specialist education.

What kind of questions will I be asked?

You may be asked something like:

"Can you tell us about a time you worked as part of a team to achieve a positive outcome?"

When answering, take us through:

- What the situation was
- The part you played
- What actions you took
- What the outcome was
- What you learned

We're especially interested in your contribution and your reflection – what it meant, what impact it had, and how it connects to the role you're applying for.

Structuring your answers: The STAR method

A helpful way to structure your responses is the STAR approach:

responsible for?

A

What did you do? How did you approach it?

R
